

C o m p a s s

BIOGRAPHICAL SUMMARY

MAURICE D. PARRISH

Vice President

Maurice D. Parrish is a management professional with expertise in not-for-profit administration, strategic planning and implementation, and construction management.

Prior to working with Compass Group, Maurice was Executive Vice President with the Detroit Institute of Arts. During his 17 year tenure his notable accomplishments included transitioning the organization to a new governance and management structure, implementing two major construction programs and expanding the level of service provided to the public.

Prior to his tenure at the DIA, Maurice served as the Building Commissioner and Zoning Administrator for the City of Chicago. He had responsibility for a number of changes in both departments enhancing the reputation and functionality of city services.

Maurice is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and earned a Masters degree in Architecture from Yale University. He also completed the Getty's Museum Leadership Institute, an executive development program for Senior Museum Executives.

Maurice has been active in the Mosaic Youth Theatre of Detroit including Board of Directors and Chair positions; Detroit Metro Convention and Visitors Bureau, Board Member; Arts League of Michigan, Board of Directors; and American Association of Museums/International Council of Museums.